DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Machida et al (US 2001/0027375) in view of Creemer (US 6,795,710).

As per claim 1, Machida teaches a system for providing area information. The system comprises: a first information processing means 600 (fig.1) for transmitting an area specific information (para 0055); a second information processing device 100 (fig.1). The first information processing device comprises: a storage unit storing information specific information (road data, etc.) and the location information (latitude and longitude coordinate) (para 0038); an extraction unit extracting an item of area information specific to the mode of user transportation (para 0055); a transmission unit (para 0055); and the second information processing devices comprises a receiving unit for receiving the area information (para 0056). Machida does not explicitly disclose an inference unit. However, Creemer teaches an inference unit for inferring a mode of user transportation based on location information of a user (col.10, lines 26-52). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to implement the inference unit taught by Creemer to the system taught by Machida in order to automatically determining the mode of transportation without asking the user to manually input the data.

As per claim 2-5, Creemer teaches inferring the mode of transportation based on historical data (col.10, lines 66-67; col.11, lines 1-18). Moreover storing schedule information in a mobile unit would have been well known; furthermore, it would have been known that past schedule information can be used as the historical data, using schedule information in the past in historical data would have been obvious.

As per claim 6-15, refer to claims 1-5 above. Furthermore, using computer readable medium for storing a computer algorithm for performing a method would have been well known.
